

Greg Ennis

SVP, Business Management & Chief Financial Officer

Gregory Ennis is senior vice president of Business Management and chief financial officer for HII's Mission Technologies division. He is responsible for the division's business management functions, including accounting, financial reporting, financial planning and analysis, rates and budgets, and program cost control.

Ennis previously served as vice president and controller for Mission Technologies. He joined the company in 2019 through HII's acquisition of Fulcrum IT and brings more than 25 years of experience in government contracting, accounting and financial management.

Before joining HII, Ennis served as corporate controller for Fulcrum IT. Earlier in his career, he held finance leadership positions with Dataline, Tatum and Concurrent Technologies Corporation, where he was responsible for a range of financial management and corporate accounting functions.

Ennis earned a bachelor's degree in finance from Hofstra University and a Master of Business Administration from the University of South Florida. He is a Certified Public Accountant licensed in Florida and Virginia.

HII is America's largest shipbuilder, delivering the world's most powerful ships and all-domain mission technologies, including unmanned systems, to U.S. and allied defense customers. HII is the largest producer of unmanned underwater vehicles for the U.S. Navy and the world. With a more than 140-year history of advancing U.S. national security, HII builds and integrates defense capabilities extending from the core fleet to C6ISR, AI/ML, EW and synthetic training. Headquartered in Virginia, HII's workforce is 45,000 strong.