

HII

DefenseTech

2026

LIVE

Matt Maroofi

Senior Director, Product Development
Shield AI

Matt Maroofi is Senior Director of Product Development at Shield AI, where he leads advanced autonomy and AI integration for global defense applications.

With over 20 years in aerospace and defense, Matt has specialized in cutting edge technology advancement in airborne and spaceborne applications, and AI-driven capability integration. Before joining Shield AI, he contributed to key advanced technology projects, holding roles in R&D and operational programs both in industry and government positions.

Matt holds an M.S. in information and data science from UC Berkeley, focusing on deep learning and natural language processing, and an M.S. in electrical engineering from George Mason University, specializing in communication and satellite design.